

ALLOWED ITEMS FOR VOLUNTARY SURRENDERS TO THE BOP

This information is subject to change. For updated information go to the Bureau of Prisons (BOP) website - <http://www.bop.gov/>

When an inmate voluntarily surrenders to Bureau custody he or she will be permitted to retain only the following items:

- Plain wedding band (no stones or intricate markings).
- Earrings for females only (no stones) with a declares value of less than $100.
- Medical or orthopedic devices.
- Legal documents.
- Social security card and other forms of identification (driver's license, passport, etc.) to be retained in the Inmate Central File until the inmate's release.
- Religious items approved by the warden as long as they do not present a threat to the security of the institution (religious medallions and chains must have a declared value of less than $100, male or female).
- Prescription glasses

The institution will only pay for the shipping costs of clothing the inmate wears upon initial commitment - pants, shirt, underwear, shoes, coat, etc.

All other property will be rejected and shipped to the inmate's home at the inmate's expense.
